Billy Graham Writes: Response to 16 Weeks' Crusade Has Been Overwhelming

Editor's Note: Billy Graham winds up his New York campaign this weekend. The United Press asked Dr. Graham to look back on those 16 weeks and give his view of what has been accomplished.

By BILLY GRAHAM
Written for United Press

Many people have asked: What are the results of the New York crusade?

They have read the impressive statistics; they have heard that 1,750,000 people came to Madison Square Garden in four months, not to see a show but to hear an old message about God and his love.

Almost everyone has read about the thousands that came down the aisles night after night in response to the invitation. Even the skeptics have had to admit that it could not be showmanship, publicity, or personality. There has been an element here that even the psychologists cannot understand.

One of the most brilliant psychologists in America came into my office at Madison Square Garden the other night and said, "This cannot be explained psychologically. There is a spirit here that is beyond me. I'm afraid we will all have to take your explanation, that it is God."

Sixteen weeks ago when the crusade began, we could never have dreamed of the overwhelming response we have seen in New York. The forces of evil have been confounded by the overwhelming tide of spiritual awakening which has swept multitudes of thousands toward Christ and the church. Other thousands of Christians have rededicated their lives to go back to their communities and put into practice Christian principles. Churches have been revived to the extent that many are reorganizing the entire church program to meet the new spiritual challenge and opportunities of New York.

There is a change in the lives of thousands. It will be expressed in a hundred different ways: A smile to a stranger on the subway, a visit from a new Christian to a lonely person in a tenement house that never knows the handclasp of a friend, a man going to his office on Wall Street with a New Testament in his pocket, a business executive on Madison Avenue with a Bible on his desk, hundreds of teenagers joining clubs and gangs for Christ, Christian cells that are being organized all over the city, new Bible study groups in many of the professions.

We have received thousands of letters from people all over the New York area telling the most thrilling stories of individual lives that have been transformed.

Will it last? Yes, it will last in the hearts and lives of multiplied thousands that have been touched and affected throughout the nation and even the world.

Stassen Not Blue About Arms Talks

Closest in 12 Years, Chief Delegate Says

Just Back From London Conference
Of Five Nations

NEW YORK (UP)—Harold E. Stassen returned from London today optimistic about the outcome of the five-nation disarmament talks.

"We actually are closer together now than at any time in the past 12 years," Stassen said.

Stassen, chief U. S. delegate to the London disarmament conference, said the four Western powers, Great Britain, France, Canada and the United States, now are "waiting for a response" from the Soviet Union on the 11-point disarmament proposal presented by Stassen to the conference Thursday.

Stassen said he believed the Soviet delegate, Valerian A. Zorin, would forward the Western proposal to Moscow despite Zorin's flat rejection of the plan Thursday. Stassen conceded that Zorin's remarks, although officially dubbed "preliminary," posed serious obstacles to any kind of agreement.

But Stassen described the general agreement among the Western powers on the disarmament proposal as "a very significant situation." He pointed out that informal discussions with other countries not represented in the United Nations disarmament subcommittee also had evoked a great deal of support for the proposal.

Asked if he believed the Soviet Union was prepared to come to any kind of agreement on disarmament, he replied "I have no way of knowing. The Soviet Union and the United States look at about every subject in a very different way."

Stassen said the Soviet rejections of the proposals up to this point were "rather to be expected."

"Sometimes the road is rather rough and rocky, but we must patiently keep at it," he said.

He said he believed Zorin's stormy denunciation of the proposals was just "a product of tough bargaining."

Husband and Wife Each Lose Brother

Mr. and Mrs. Will Jennings, went to Providence, Ky., this week, called Allen honeymooned for the second time today. This time as a bridegroom.

The last time he was the bride, Allen was brought up as a girl and married a coal dealer in 1938. The marriage was annulled soon afterward.

He changed his name from Joyce to Robert in 1944 when he produced medical evidence to prove he was listed as a girl at birth by mistake and reared that way.

The last time he was the bride, Allen was brought up as a girl and married a coal dealer in 1938. The marriage was annulled soon afterward.

He changed his name from Joyce to Robert in 1944 when he produced medical evidence to prove he was listed as a girl at birth by mistake and reared that way.

Kills Man with Knife, Caught In Death Grip

Boy, 14, Tells Police
He Had 'Urge
To Commit Murder'

LOMBARD, Ill. (UP)—A 14-year-old boy with an "urge to commit murder" stabbed his girl friend's father to death today and was trapped in his victim's death grip.

Police said they found Clyde Walker, a slightly built youth, struggling beneath the fallen body of his 200-pound victim, Arthur Capitaneili, 37.

They were lying in a pool of blood in Capitaneili's bedroom.

Police said the youth told them he "couldn't sleep" after returning from a party and arose before dawn with "an urge to commit murder."

Walker told authorities he walked a mile and a half the Capitaneili home, found the light on and the front door open.

With a 3-inch switchblade knife in his hand, police said the youth stole into Capitaneili's bedroom.

Capitaneili turned on the light and screamed when he saw the teen-ager with knife in hand.

"I didn't want to commit murder after I entered the room," police quoted the youth, "but when he screamed I couldn't back out."

Police said Capitaneili was half-way out of bed to meet his attacker when he was slashed across the face and stabbed in the chest near the throat.

Postal Inspector Out to Break Back of Bond Chain Letters

CHICAGO (UP)—Chief postal inspector Jerome Williamson said today he expects to break the back of the latest chain letter scheme in Illinois "very shortly."

The latest version of the depression-spawned fad involves U. S. savings bonds. It was reportedly causing near runs on the bonds in several southern and central Illinois counties.

Williamson described the scheme as "the same old fraud with a new trimming, and no pun intended."

Says Subject To Prosecution
He said, "investors" are subject to criminal prosecution since the law regards any chain letter activity as a form of lottery and therefore illegal.

In the present outbreak the prospective member of the chain is approached with a letter containing 11 names.

He can buy the letter for two savings bonds—purchase value $37.50—one to the person offering the letter and one to the person whose name heads the list.

The investor then adds his name to the bottom of the list, scratches off the name at the top, and attempts to sell copies of it to at least two other persons, thereby

HTHS Students to Assemble Tuesday For Instructions

School will open at Harrisburg Township high school Tuesday, September 3, at 8:30 o'clock, according to an announcement made by school officials today.

Students will assemble in the girls gymnasium for instructions after which they will meet in home rooms, and later in classes.

Fees for book rental and incidentals amount to $7 per year, $3.50 of which will be due at first home room meeting Tuesday. This does not include accident insurance, which students may purchase if they wish, for $1.50 per year. All Freshmen are required by law to present a physical examination card. It should be brought with them Tuesday.

Bus schedules during the first few days will be practically the same as last year. Any changes will be made during the first few days. The cafeteria will begin serving meals Wednesday, Sept. 4. The price will be 30 cents for a regular meal, or 35 cents if the pupil has dessert.

The high school faculty was completed with the employment of Mrs. Margaret Belamy as a member of the English faculty. Mrs. Belamy has a bachelor's degree from Northwest Missouri State College, and a master's degree from Northeast Missouri State Teachers College at Kirksville, Mo. She has 11 years of teaching experience.

A faculty meeting will be held at the high school Monday, Sept. 2, at 2 p. m.

Chicago Puts 650 Police on Hunt For Girl Killer

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP)—A special task force of 650 policemen began the biggest single search in Chicago history today in an effort to find clues to the butcher murder of Judith Mae Andersen, 15.

Police Commissioner Timothy J. O'Connor ordered 515 rookies from the police training school, their 40 instructors and a force of 100 regular officers into an intensive block-by-block search of the city's entire north and northwest sides.

The dramatic drive for clues marked an all-out police effort to solve the gruesome slaying of Judith Mae, the sixth youthful victim in recent years of unsolved murders in the Chicago area.

"The evidence we want has to be some place, and we are going to find it," O'Connor said.

"We'll keep on, if necessary, until we have made a block-by-block search of the entire north and northwest sides. We will be thorough. Nothing will be left undone."

In addition about 100 Park District police will comb North Side parks and beaches for clues. Thomas D. Garry, city commissioner of water and sewers, offered 500 men to aid in the hunt.

'Baby' Nuclear Blast Unleashed

ATOP ANGELS' PEAK, Nev. (UP)—Scientists today unleashed a "baby" nuclear blast believed to be part of a safety test of materials to protect human eyes from flash blindness.

The device was detonated at 7:40 a. m. c.d.t., the 14th atomic explosion of the 20-shot summer "Plumb-bob" series at the Nevada proving grounds.

The device, called "Franklin Prime," was triggered from a plastic balloon 750 feet over the test site. The balloon was anchored to the desert floor.

There were 19 experiments on the sequence timer. Six Army, 2 Navy and 16 Air Force planes swooped into the test area after the shot in a support training maneuver. The planes also contained delicate instruments to register radioactive material.

Despite its small size, clear skies resulted in the blast being seen in Las Vegas and Los Angeles. Buildings in Hollywood also were lighted by the blast.

Indianapolis Man New Commander of Veterans Foreign Wars

MIAMI BEACH (UP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars closes out one of its "most routine" conventions in recent years today with election of an unopposed set of national officers.

Richard L. Roudabush of Indianapolis, advances to become commander in chief, succeeding Cooper T. Holt of Chattanooga, Tenn.

All Passed as Congress Pulls To Adjourn

Record Filibuster
Ends After Thurmond
Talks Over 24 Hours

By JAMES BAAR
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Congress rushed toward adjournment today.

Speaker Sam Rayburn was shooting for a windup in the House by early afternoon. Indications were the Senate might take longer although it had no major business to do.

The House cleared one hurdle early by approving, 315-0, a bill to safeguard the secrecy of FBI files in criminal trials. Adopted by the Senate Thursday night, the measure was sent over to the White House for President Eisenhower's signature.

The House then approved and sent to Eisenhower a compromise $3,435,810,000 foreign aid appropriation bill that fell more than one billion short of Eisenhower's request.

The 146-122 roll call vote came after House opponents protested that the bill was a "give-away" and Eisenhower supporters countered that the deep slash was a "jamboree" with the nation's security.

Sen. Russell Takes Floor
Speeches were the order of the day in the Senate as members prepared to go home until next Jan. 7.

The Senate cleaned up most of its last-minute business Thursday night and early this morning at the tail-end of a marathon session marked by Sen. Strom Thurmond's record 24-hour-plus filibuster against the civil rights bill.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of the Senate's Dixie bloc, delivered a long post-mortem in which he criticized both Thurmond and administration sponsors of the bill.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. were singled out for special censure by Russell.

Charging that the bill was politically inspired and aimed directly at the South, he said "a political-minded" attorney general now will be under constant pressure from Nixon to help the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People achieve their racial equality aims in the South.

The South, he said, must prepare for "difficult times."

Tighter Filibuster Rule
In a slap at Thurmond, Russell said most Southerners agreed not to filibuster the bill because they knew the maneuver would fail and would only invite disaster by making "a bad bill infinitely worse."

Eleven senators — five northern Democrats and six Republicans — served notice that they will try next year to tighten the rule against filibusters.

The Democrats said unlimited debate "has ceased to fulfill a useful function" when it is used not to provide information but is merely an "instrument of obstruction." The Republicans said Thurmond's talkathon demonstrated how unlimited debate "can block the public business."

Thurmond's filibuster had begun Wednesday night. The senate had met at 10 a. m. that morning and when Thurmond quit it had been in session for 38 hours and 58 minutes.

The grey-haired baldish senator finally yielded the floor at 9:12 p. m. — 24 hours and 18 minutes after he started talking.

Two hours later the Senate machinery began to hum. The senators jammed through in a series of

There is an instinctive compul-

Ferment in Ballot Box

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

The business world is studded with market research outfits which help businessmen gauge probable customer response to their products and services. It might be a good idea if the politicians turned to their device in a big way.

They already do use existing research organizations to some extent, of course. Potential candidates often run off a little private survey before taking the plunge.
But if things keep on as they're going, they may need soundings on a big scale. The reason is plain. The complexion of their constituency is changing so rapidly with the changing face of America that it is hard to record
it accurately from election to election.

Everybody knows that the country's farm population has been falling steadily for a long time.
By the 1958 elections the farmers may well represent no more than one in every ten voters.

This means politicians will give less thought to the "farm vote," that legislators from predominantly farm states will speak with a smaller voice in Congress, that the balance of political strength will shift more than ever to the populous, highly urbanized states.

Within those latter states, the great migration to the suburbs continues, thus weakening further the old city organizations and buttressing the conservative vote common in the outlying sectors. "Winning the city" doesn't have the triumphant ring in political ears it used to have.

Big migrations proceed unchecked
toward the Far West, the Southwest and the South, too. The net effect seems to be, up to now anyway, to make the East somewhat more Republican, the West more Democratic and the South for the first time a real two-party region
in some parts.

With these churning shifts still in progress and evidently due to continue indefinitely, it is a rare politician who can keep really close tabs on the makeup of his constituency from year to year.

What is happening, naturally,
makes election campaigns infinitely more intriguing to the onlooker, though painfully uncertain for the politician.

More important, without any evident loss of stability in government, it introduces a greater fluidity and flexibility into the American political system which serves well
the cause of democracy. The age of political czarism, an easy entrenchment in "sure" districts, appears to be fading.

In their restless moving about,
Americans have got their society
in ferment, no doubt of it. Probably there aren't many politicians who wouldn't like to see this popular game of political musical chairs called off for a while.

Illinois to Help Social Workers with Studies

CHICAGO (U)—The Illinois Public Aid Commission has launched a plan to raise standards of state public welfare workers through social work study.

Some 2,300 employees of the commission were invited to apply for fellowships of a year or more of additional college studies in social work.

The fellowships will be provided,
the commissioner said, from a $300,000 appropriation approved by the 1957 Illinois General Assembly.
About 30 scholarships will be given each year, said Gershom Hurwitz, commission chief of methods and training.

"The plan will help Illinois meet the critical shortage of adequately trained persons needed for a high level of public welfare work."

Latin Dictators, Not Democrats; Life Magazine Would Lose $9,310,000 On Congressional Amendment.

WASHINGTON. — What White House servants are talking about —How Mamie is getting such wonderful treatment at Walter Reed Hospital she almost doesn't want to go back to the White House.
She's now been in the hospital almost a month. The nurses love her; she likes them. Recently hospital personnel had to go out and buy a "special pillow for her."
Cost: $35.00.

What Congressmen are talking about — How Congressman Carl Vinson of Georgia stole the bill of Congressman Eddie Hebert of Louisiana requiring the armed services to restore competitive bidding. Hebert had conducted a sensational investigation exposing the manner in which the Army, Navy, and Air Force had squandered
the taxpayers' money by giving contracts to their favorite contractors without competition.
Vinson of Georgia sat on the sidelines. After Hebert did the spadework, Vinson suddenly introduced the bill Hebert was introducing, took all the credit himself.

What the Governors are talking about—How the governor of Florida, LeRoy Collins, will speak at Sea Island on the dynamite-laden question, "Can a Southerner be elected President?" The governor of Florida is one of the most farsighted north or south of the Mason-Dixon Line. Other governors are watching to see how he'll handle segregation.

What the Children are talking about—How their nature center,

established in Washington's Rock Creek park at a cost to taxpayers of $50,000 is being moved because of complaints from a Senate stenographer. John D. Rhodes, official reporter of Senate debates, complained that kids arriving on buses to visit the center made too much noise and trampled his grass. The Interior Department has now promised the nature center will be moved.

What the Latin Americans are talking about — Congressman Charlie Porter's amendment to the foreign aid bill banning direct military or economic aid to any Latin American country which the State Department determined to be a dictatorship. Congressmen voting for the dictators: 171. Congressmen voting against the dictators: 4. They were: Cooper (Tenn.), Boyle (Ill.), Reuss (Wis.)
and Porter (Ore.) . . . Porter introduced a second amendment in exact conformity with the Pan American Union's requirement for preference to democracies under the military law of funds. Congressmen who voted for the dictators:
168. Congressmen who voted for democracies: 6. They included, in addition to the above, Hagen
of California and Wier of Minnesota, all Democrats.

What Newspapersmen are talking about—The provision in the Post Office bill which would cost Life Magazine $9,310,000, and Reader's Digest $4,172,000. It's the amendment by Congressman
George Rhodes of Reading, Pa., limiting any one magazine's subsidy to $100,000 a year. Hemphill of South Carolina and Hollifield of California, both Democrats, pushed the bill and it passed the House. The big magazine lobby is trying to knock it out in the Senate. Congressman John Moss of California reports that in 10 years first class mail has shown a profit of $846,404,480; second class mail a deficit of $2,000,000.

The taxpayers paid two billion dollars in 10 years to help the big magazines.

What the lobbyists are talking about—How Congressman Thomas
B. Curtis, Republican of Missouri, managed to stymie the bill to plug loopholes in the tax law. He managed to get special permission from the rules committee to offer an amendment on behalf of the big insurance companies. Big business has a lot of friends on the rules committee. This special favor for insurance companies got chairman Jere Cooper of Tennessee so indignant he held up the entire tax loophole bill rather than continue a loophole for one group.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Children ask "Why" so much that we frequently become exasperated. We overlook the fact that we, ourselves, ask the same questions. We justify our adult queries on the basis that we have a right to know answers. We feel that we can work more effectively if we understand the causes behind everything.

The explanation of causes is difficult because many reasons are not directly related to the results.
There are causes behind causes,
and still other causes for these causes. The answers to many "Whys" are complicated.

We often ask God to tell us
"Why" certain things have happened in the spiritual and natural areas of life which we cannot understand because we follow a logic of human reasoning from cause to

Males Suffer Most In Home Accidents

CHICAGO (U)—Apparently this is more of a woman's world than most women think. A national Safety Council survey of 16 states shows that working age men die
almost twice as fast as women
in home accidents.

The council admitted that it has been virtually ignoring the male in designing safety programs which concentrate primarily on the safety of women and children. The result of all this precaution spells a grim destiny for men between the ages of 25 and 64. In one year, more than one thousand men between those ages and fewer than 600 women died in home accidents.
Council spokesman Ralph Kuhl offered two explanations: Whenever there is a hazardous job to be done around the house, the man does it, Kuhl said. Also, a man's everyday maintenance jobs usually require more dangerous tools.

The survey showed that poisons, falls, fire, and firearms are the chief death dealers.

Presbyterian Picnic Held Sunday

On Sunday the congregation of the First Presbyterian church held a family picnic at the Carrier Mills Lion's Park. A bountiful array of food was spread at noon in the afternoon games and good fellowship were enjoyed by both adults and children.

The picnic was well attended and the Board of Deacons, who sponsored the affair, hope that it can become an annual event.

Mrs. Ivor Craggs, Harrisburg, and her daughter, Miss Ruth Jean Craggs, Evansville, and Jane Lewis, Roselle, Ill., have returned from Denver, Colo., where they have been visiting Mrs. Craggs' sister, Mrs. Jack Lusk.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wiley and children, Dee, Patty and Tina, have returned from two delightful weeks on Lake Erie, where they were guests at Point Pelee, Leamington, Ontario, Canada, of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Walker, formerly of El Dorado. The Walkers, who live at Plymouth, Mich., have a cabin at Point Pelee. Mr. Walker is a brother of Mrs. Wiley.

Hospital Picnic at Dixon Springs Park Attended by 150

The annual picnic of the workers from the Lightner and Harrisburg hospitals attracted approximately 150 persons to Dixon Springs Thursday evening.

Food and fellowship provided the attractions for the group, made up of all the personnel of the two institutions who were not on duty for the evening, and of their families.

The buffet style dinner, served in the dining room of the lodge, had been prepared under direction of Mrs. Rhoda King, dietitian at the hospitals. Her crew made up of Thelma Killman, Bessie Grounds, Mary Lovellette, Thelma Storms, Marie Glascock, Hazel Patton, Fannie Gates, Flo Brown, Nell Dooley, Lorene Chenoweth and Gertrude Biggs had prepared fried chicken, baked ham, fried corn, baked beans, and relishes.

Dessert include ice cream topped off by nine cakes which had been entered in a special contest for the occasion, with Mrs. Emma Coy taking the $10 top prize. Dolly Cavender had second choice and Mrs. Bernice Latham third, but when the crowd had finished, it appeared that the judges might have chosen any of the entries as the best, for there was little left of any of them.

A committee composed of Miss Audrey Turner, Mrs. Rhoda King, Mrs. Fernie Patton, Mrs. Helen Butler, Mrs. Marion Humm and Mrs. Virginia Goodman planned the event, and they received assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Phillips Nyberg and Mrs. W. D. Tuttle and others in the dining room.

Jack Myers, Buzz Kennedy and Don Smathers made transportation arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Mann of Detroit, Mich. and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Veach, 1114 W. Clark street, Urbana, are visiting friends and relatives in Harrisburg. Carrier Mills and Stonefort. Mrs. Mann and Mrs. Veach are sisters, the former Miss Ora Wilson and Miss Letha Wilson of Stonefort and Harrisburg. Mrs. Veach came into the Register office this morning to subscribe to the Register for a year, in order to keep up with news of family and friends in this community.

Peggy Morgan, six year old daughter of Mrs. Wilma Morgan, apt. 3-c Housing Project, has returned to her home from the Cook County Children's hospital, where she was taken for heart surgery.

Harrisburgers Seen At Hambletonian Tuesday

Among the many thousands of spectators seen at the Hambletonian at the Du Quoin fairgrounds Tuesday were many racing enthusiasts from Harrisburg. Some of them were happily planning to attend the event next year and with the meeting of the Hambletonian Society on Wednesday, and the assurance that the races will be held at Du Quoin through 1959, many more will share the excitement and colorful pageantry that marks the running of this greatest trotting stake for three year olds.

Among those attending from Harrisburg community were: Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Lehman, Dr. and Mrs. B. E. Montgomery, Dr. and Mrs. G. R. Johnson, Mrs. Roy Seright and granddaughter, Joan, Paul Endicott, Duke Holland, Ed Gaskins, Stanley Wilson, F. A. Leberman, H. V. McDaniel, Curtis Small, Connie VanderPluym, Dr. and Mrs. B. G. Durham, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Durham, Dorothy Durham, Lilly Durham, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Sullivan, Judy Franks, Don Scott, Olen Ingram and daughter, Clyde O'Keefe, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Milley and Dave Gulley.

Former Harrisburg residents, Wm. G. Gilchrist, now of Decatur, Alabama, and a family party, met the Carl Rudes at Du Quoin and they had a pleasant reunion as they watched the races. Linda Rude and Jerry Bramlet joined the Rude and Gilchrist families for dinner and the evening show, which was pronounced excellent by all of the fairgoers who stayed through the evening to see it.

200 ACRE STOCK AND GRAIN FARM My 200 acre farm located 4 miles south of Harrisburg on Route 34, in Pierson community: 175 acres tillable and 140 acres fenced and cross fenced. 100 acres now in corn and 50 acres in permanent pasture. Two modern houses, two good barns, and quonset 30 ft. x 135 ft. used as machine shed or cattle loafing shed. Sufficient wood fence corrals for handling 100 to 150 head of cattle. Part of barn lots are concreted. Two large trench silos 20 ft. x 100 ft. with concrete floors. Two good corn cribs with 3000 bushel capacity.

One of the most beautiful building sites in Southern Illinois on this farm, consisting of 12 acres beautifully landscaped with hundreds of trees including evergreens and good apple orchard. One and one half acre lake stocked with fish. Water supplied from lake to cattle and to barns by automatic water system. Deep drilled well for drinking. Small modern country home on building site. Can easily be enlarged for any size family. If you want a farm and you like to live in the country, you can't help but like this place. Will consider selling building site with or without farm.

All students are requested to be in the rooms of their respective grades at 8:45 a. m. and assignment of students to their home-room will be made at that time.

There are four new teachers on the staff this year: Fred Osburn, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Osburn of Mt. Carmel, formerly of Carrier Mills, will teach 7th and 8th grades. He replaces Howard Street, who resigned at the close of last term.

FISHIN' WAS GOOD, HERE'S THE PROOF — Bob Hine of Carrier Mills proudly displays a Great Northern Pike, caught while on a vacation trip at Lake Osakis, Minn. Enjoying the fishing trip in Minnesota were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Berns and family, Mr. and Mrs. Oather Dunaway and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hine and family, all of Carrier Mills. Everyone caught some dandies, with Max Berns catching the greatest number of Pike. Bob, to properly impress his friends, brought back the picture of his prize catch and admits to holding the fish straight out toward the camera to give impression of greater size, just proving that a "fish tale" can be told even in pictures. Weight of the fish was about 5 pounds, maybe a little more, maybe a little less.

"I told you not to talk back to your father, Ellen—he developed that loud baritone voice of his singing in the choir!"

THE STORY: Marshal Harney Blanchard doesn't have much time to rescue Pete Dorsey, his prisoner who was kidnapped in Blue Springs. Pete may be lynched by the Clements for being a coward, which resulted in the death of Barney Jethroe. New Cole Jethroe, Barney's brother, is in town, and there is nothing to delay the lynching. Pike Ambrose has set out to follow a man who may know where Dorsey is held.

XVII

The noise of horses moving on the trail came closer. Then I saw gray spots moving through the dark and I knew it was Birch's pinto leading the way down the ravine. I held Pilot's nose to keep him quiet. Then I saw the shape of a man on the pinto and the trailing pack horse. I edged away from the bushes as the pinto came below me on the trail.

"Hold up, Birch," I said, surprised how loud my voice came off the slopes.

I heard him grab a breath. I moved up fast before he got a notion to run and the pinto jumped aside when I brushed his shoulder. I grabbed his bridle and stuck my rifle into Birch's face.

"What—?"

It wasn't Birch. It was Carl Rambeau, one of the Clements' cooks. "Get down, Carl," I said. Carl got down and edged near, trying to pick out my face. I tipped my head away. No need to tell him who it was. More than likely he'd find out soon enough.

"You take me to the cave where Dorsey is," I said, trying to sound all business.

"What cave? Who are you?"

I nudged his belly with the rifle. It was a mistake. I saw his shoulders hunch when he made his grab. I saw it just early enough to pull the rifle aside. I felt his hand hit and slide off the barrel. I ducked and his fist hit the top of my head and knocked my hat off. I heard the horses start and one of them brushed against me. Rambeau's weight hung on me and I couldn't get my arms loose. In close under him, I swung the rifle hard. I heard the solid smack of the barrel against the side of his head. He dropped like a stone.

I stood over him, sucking air, my heart stomping against my ribs. Then I heard horses running on the "rail below. I jerked around. The pinto and pack horse were gone.

I knew I might need one of those horses but there was nothing to do about it. I waited for Rambeau to come alive.

I WALKED around in the dark until I found my hat. I went to Rambeau to check him for guns. He had a 45 in his belt. I pulled it and threw it up the slope. I fanned Rambeau's face with my hat, trying to bring him around. Leaning over him, I saw the blood on his head. I'd hit him as hard as I could, I remembered, and it worried me. But finally he stirred and opened his mouth. Then his eyes came open and his hand moved to his face. He felt the blood and set up fast. I held the rifle down where he could get a good look but not so close he could grab again. But I knew I didn't have the guts to shoot him if he went for it.

I said, "Take me to the cave." Rambeau stood up and rubbed at his face with his handanna. I could see he was scared and I liked that. I didn't care much whether he was scared of me or of what the Clements would do when they found out. Something pressed into the middle of my back and I jumped about a foot off the ground and then I saw it was only Pilot, dragging his reins. "Get going," I said. Rambeau turned and started up the trail. I stayed right close leading Pilot. I thought about what was coming and made up my mind. "Listen, Carl. At the cave, you call Birch, get him out. Anybody else, you get them out, too."

Rambeau turned half way to me and didn't say anything. It looked to me like he would do it. I nudged his back with the rifle barrel just to remind him and then I pulled away before he got another notion. We moved up the trail and Rambeau stopped at about the place I thought he would. He looked at me and pointed to the cave, just a thick black mark on the slope 30 feet up.

I whispered, "Sing out." Rambeau waited. I nudged him with the rifle. He called, "Birch, come out. This is Carl. Come out here!"

Then a man stepped out of the cave.

I said, "Down here to the trail, Birch. Drop your gun and come down. Make a wrong move . . . I'll kill you."

FOR a minute, Birch just stood. Then he started down. He said, "Gun's in the cave." His voice was sad and tired. He didn't seem surprised at all. Down at the trail, he looked hard at me and then at Rambeau. He said, "What happened, Carl?"

"Caught me down the ravine," Carl said.

Birch turned back to me. "Might as well shoot. Our hides ain't worth a sack of chips now."

I kept my eyes and the rifle on them. I called, "Pete! Pete Dorsey! You come out and I'll take you to town."

Nothing happened. I said, "He tied?"

Birch nodded. I called, "Pete. Come out! It's safe!"

I didn't know what else to do. I didn't want to leave Birch and Carl. I couldn't send either of them back up on account of that gun in there. If we all went, they might jump me in the cave. It made me sick to think I'd got this far and had to stop.

Industry Helps Growth Of Night Schooling

CHICAGO (AP)—The Illinois Institute of Technology credits industry's interest in higher education with doubling its enrollment of night students in 12 years.

"The great jump in enrollment in IIT's evening division since World War II has been sparked by industry," said Stanton E. Winston, dean of the division.

He cited an enrollment of 5,400 this spring, as compared to 2,500 in 1945.

Corporations encourage students in several ways, he said. These include circulating schedules of classes, financing all or part of evening studies when they are related to the job and setting up scholarships for employees and their families.

Chief Martin urged everyone to use extreme care in the handling of gasoline or volatile oil products as many fires and other type accidents are caused by carelessness with such products.

All the Heavyweights Want To Fight Champ Patterson

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor
SEATTLE —(NEA)—Everybody wants to fight Floyd Patterson now. Lined up, in any order, you have Pat McCurtury, Eddie Machen, Zora Folley, Roy Harris, Willie Pasprano, Alex Miteff and even Inge Johansson of Sweden.

Patterson now is a champion who has, as far as contenders are concerned, no aura of invincibility about him. They think he can be taken and they'd like to try.

This means action and the kind of important business boxing has needed for a couple of years now.

While matchmakers, managers and promoters tried to do something about the dead boxing business, it remained for Youth Unlimited, Inc.—and we still haven't even a hazy notion of what it is—to prove a point. It cost the Columbus, Ga., organization a large stack of money to do it, but the fact remains that a dead game guy, strong, willing and pure of heart, if rather inept, can turn in a pretty good job against the current heavyweight champion.

This was shown by Pete Rademacher, of course. If Rademacher, a raw amateur of 28, could win three of the first four rounds as I saw it (the referee gave him only one, but others went as high as three) and come out alive after seven knockdowns, four in one round, the fifth, then there is a grand chance for anybody who can fight.

McCurtury, a 25-year-old heavyweight from Tacoma, Wash., feels that way. "I'm more convinced now than ever that I can lick Patterson," he says.

We caught McCurtury in action for the first time when he KO'd Bobo Olson in Portland, Ore. It proved nothing except he is a big, good-looking fellow. But McCurtury, on seeing Patterson in the flesh for the first time, seemed to pick up a lot, for his purposes.

"He has a lot of faults," Pat said. "He punches with both feet off the floor. He crosses his right foot behind his left when he steps to the left. He is easily hit. He's not any part of the finisher I was told he was. He doesn't follow up an advantage. Instead, he stays back with his hands up. From what I've seen of him on television—and particularly of his fight with Rademacher—I would say he lacks the killer instinct."

McCurtury is a crew-cut Irishman with a stage, rather than a fighter's nose, and is totally unmarked after 102 amateur and 28 professional outings, plus a stretch of heavier duty as a Marine Air Branch sergeant in Korea.

He wasn't talking for pleasure, either. Emil Lence, the little New York cloak and suiter who has the major promotional rights to Patterson, had a long talk with Clarence McCurtury, the father who manages his handsome and highly promising son. Lence wants McCurtury for a Yankee Stadium title shot next June.

Patterson, who further made it perfectly clear that he needs experience, wants to fight three or four times a year. Lence is working to please him. He is seeking an opponent for a late November title match in New York's huge Kingsbridge Armory.

D'Amato has made it clear Machen and Pastrano turned down chances to meet Patterson and he holds it against them. Before the Rademacher bout, Cus spoke of ora Folley and Nino Valdes, the latter to be taken on in Cuba.

But other heavyweights are thinking now and if Roy Harris of Cut and Shoot, Tex., can get over Pasprano in their rematch in Miami Beach, the pistol packing school teacher would be part of a Lence promotion in Houston or Miami in February.

So Pete Rademacher did a little more than turn on anticipated farce into a grand show with his courageous stand against Patterson. He threw the heavyweight championship wide open.

The feeling here is that he also gave a lesson to the National Boxing Association and the various state commissions, particularly New York. The match was no disgrace to boxing, as they protested it would be. There have been a lot worse productions approved. This should teach commissions to mind their own business.

Savitt Out to Grab U. S. Tennis Title

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. — Dick Savitt of South Orange, N. J., oil company executive and self-styled "week-end" player, opens his bid for the U. S. tennis singles championship today determined to bag the crown he missed in his heyday.

The Jersey bomber, second-seeded and America's chief hope for the title won last year by little Ken Rosewall of Australia, drew sometimes tough Cal McCracken of Tenafly, N. J., for his first rounder on the opening day program of 42 matches.

Wimbledon champ Althea Gibson of New York, idle until Saturday, was a top-heavy favorite in the women's division to become the first Negro ever to win a U. S. singles championship. She lost in the finals last year to Shirley Fry of St. Petersburg, Fla., who was married in Australia last winter and vacated her title.

Forty-Day Quail Season Opens Nov. 16; Reduce Limit to 8

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois hunters will have a 40-day quail season this year opening Nov. 16 and ending on Dec. 25.

Conservation Director Glen D. Palmer said the daily limit, however, has been reduced to 8, with a possession limit of 16 beginning the second day. The bag limit was 10 and the possession limit 20 last season.

Palmer said there were no changes in pheasant, rabbit, and raccoon, opossum, skunk and weasel seasons. The Ringneck pheasant season is Nov. 11-30; the rabbit season Nov. 23-Jan. 20, and the raccoon, opossum, skunk and weasel season (hunting only) is Nov. 1 Jan. 15 in the northern zone and Nov. 15-Jan. 15 in the southern zone.

Only cock pheasants may be taken. The daily limit is two; possession limit four.

The daily limit for rabbit is five;

Robinson Gets Big Sugar to Fight Basilio

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y. — Sugar Ray Robinson, who beat the promoters for a $255,000 guarantee, asked this big question today: "Now that the fight's on again, can I get sharp enough in three weeks to beat Carmen Basilio?"

The middleweight champion, who returned to camp here Thursday night, admitted he had taken a "double gamble" last week when he called off next month's million-dollar title defense against welterweight ruler Basilio and interrupted serious training.

"First, I risked losing a big purse, and having my title vacated," he said, "and second, I risked being dull against Basilio and losing the title to him. Remember, I left camp on Aug. 18, two days before I called off the fight."

In the first gamble, he registered the greatest financial victory of his career Thursday before he agreed to go through with the Basilio fight at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 23.

After 10 days of bitter dispute with the International Boxing Club and its ally, Theatre Network Television Inc., Sugar Ray was granted a guarantee of $255,000 by TNT for permitting the fight to be piped into theatres. That sum could boost his total purse to about $700,000.

Basilio, who had remained in training at Alexandria Bay, N. Y., will share in Robinson's holdout victory; for Carmen was given a guarantee of $110,000 by TNT.

Dupas Favored In TV Fight

MIAMI BEACH — Second-ranked lightweight Ralph Dupas was a 2-1 favorite to beat highly-regarded Johnny Busso in a nationally-televised 10-round bout tonight because of his greater speed and experience.

But the 21-year-old New Orleans lightweight said he has an even better reason for winning: His anger over court troubles in which he is trying to prove that he is white rather than Negro. Dupas said he is "fighting mad" over the affair and plans to vent his wrath on Busso in the ring.

"This may make me a better fighter than I usually am," he said. "I've got to take it out on somebody, why not Busso?"

Jackson, Not Muffett, Credited With Win

CINCINNATI — Pitcher Larry Jackson of the St. Louis Cardinals got his No. 13 victory "the hard way" today — by an official ruling of National League President Warren Giles.

Giles ruled that the official scorer of the Cardinals' game against the Philadelphia Phillies in Philadelphia on Aug. 22 erred when he credited the 6-5 victory to relief pitcher Billy Muffett instead of starting pitcher Jackson.

USC Gets Rose

LOS ANGELES — Swimming prospects at the University of Southern California soared today with the announcement that 18-year-old Murray Rose of Australia would enroll there next month. Rose, winner of three gold medals in the 1956 Olympics, holds four world records from 400 meters to 1,500 meters.

Correction

Neal, and not Holmes school, is a part of the new Community Unit School district approved by voters Wednesday. Other schools in the unit, C. R. Gardner, County Superintendent of Schools, states are Galatia grad school, Galatia high school and Harco grade school.

Palmer announced the trapping season for mink, muskrat, raccoon, opossum, skunk and weasel is Nov. 15-Dec. 31 in the northern zone, and Nov. 15-Dec. 31 in the southern zone.

RETURN TO SERVICE

Redlegs Cut Fowler

CINCINNATI — The Cincinnati Redlegs were prepared today to cut loose veteran pitcher Art Fowler, who has three wins and no losses this year. They asked waivers on Fowler to make room for Clarence (Bud) Podbielan, a former Redlegs pitcher recently purchased from Seattle of the Pacific Coast League.
